Cincinnati's Largest Pet Adoption Event Invites You to "Meet Your New Best Friend"

WHAT:

My Furry Valentine, the region's largest animal adoption event, returns to the Sharonville Convention Center for its eighth year this weekend. The mega-adoption event will feature hundreds of adoptable dogs, cats, puppies, kittens, parrots and other small critters from dozens of shelters and rescue organizations in the Greater Cincinnati area.

WHY:

Driven by a mission to end shelter euthanasia, My Furry Valentine brings nearly 1,000 adoptable animals under one roof to help them find forever homes. In addition to the main event, dozens of satellite locations around the city will host events featuring hundreds of animals also available for adoption. Over the past seven years, the event has found homes for more than 5,000 animals.

WHEN:

Saturday, Feb. 9, 2019 / 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

(Early Bird ticket holders have exclusive access to the animal areas from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.)
